

July Quotes

"Bulls make money. Bears make money. Pigs get slaughtered."	Anon
"Don't try to buy at the bottom and sell at the top. It can't be done except by liars ... I made my money by selling too soon."	Bernard Baruch
"A market is the combined behavior of thousands of people responding to information, misinformation and whim."	Kenneth Chang
"Emotions are your worst enemy in the stock market."	Don Hays
"He who does without the praise of the crowd will not deny himself an opportunity to be his own adherent."	Karl Kraus
"I have always said that if I were a rich man I would employ a professional praiser."	Osbert Sitwell, Wisdom
"A man desires praise that he may be reassured, that he may be quit of his doubting of himself; he is indifferent to applause when he is confident of success."	Alec Waugh, On Doing What One Likes
"People only see what they are prepared to see."	Ralph Waldo Emerson
"Welcome anything that comes to you, but do not long for anything else."	André Gide, The Fruits of the Earth
"I wish they would only take me as I am."	Vincent Van Gogh (Dear Theo: Autobiography of Vincent Van Gogh)
"The lady doth protest too much, methinks."	William Shakespeare, "Hamlet, Act III, Scene 2"
"He who is unable to live in society, or who has no need because he is sufficient for himself, must be either a beast or a god."	Aristotle, Politics
"He never is alone that is accompanied with noble thoughts."	Fletcher, Love's Cure, 1647
"Solitude is as needful to the imagination as society is wholesome for the character."	James Russell Lowell, Among My Books, 1870
"A solitary, unused to speaking of what he sees and feels, has mental experiences which are at once more intense and less articulate than those of a gregarious man."	Thomas Mann, Death in Venice, 1911
"Solitude is the profoundest fact of the human condition. Man is the only being who knows he is alone."	Octavio Paz, The Labyrinth of Solitude, 1950
"There are places and moments in which one is so completely alone that one sees the world entire."	Jules Renard, Journal, December, 1900

"Solitude vivifies; isolation kills."

Joseph Roux,
Meditations of a
Parish Priest, 1886

"Only in solitude do we find ourselves; and in finding ourselves, we find in ourselves all our brothers in solitude."

Miguel de Unamuno,
Essays and
Soliloquies, 1924

"We are rarely proud when we are alone."

Voltaire,
Philosophical
Dictionary, 1764